

Cancer treatment is a journey. So it's comforting to have excellent options close to home.

For individuals living with cancer, treatment can be physically and emotionally draining. But it's a bit less overwhelming when it's close to home and family.

Sturdy Memorial Hospital has a comprehensive cancer program that can coordinate and provide care for all but the most uncommon cancers. The program is accredited by the American College of Surgeons Commission on Cancer. Patients here get the same treatment options and protocols they would find in a major cancer center, including national clinical trials, chemotherapy, infusion therapy, surgery, and state-of-the-art radiation therapy. Our dedicated oncology team is made up of highly trained and experienced physicians and nurses. They're among the leaders in their field.

When you have cancer, you want access to excellent treatment options as well as the support of your loved ones. It's a good thing Sturdy can keep you close to both.
